2023 List of Greater Toronto's Top Employers includes Medtronic Canada

Brampton, Canada – Medtronic Canada is proud to announce it has been recognized on MediaCorp's list of one of Greater Toronto's Top Employers for 2023.

The Canadian operations of the global healthcare technology leader are headquartered in Brampton and have been pursuing their Mission to alleviate pain, restore health, and extend life in Canada for over 50 years.

Medtronic's flexible work arrangements and formal hybrid work policy are among some of the reasons for selection.

The company is committed to applying technology to improve its customers' and employees' lives. And staying connected is critical.

"Employee well-being and productivity are supported by people's ability to connect and collaborate effectively," says David Singh, Senior IT Director. "One of our goals is to help drive collaboration among employees through digital technology and help fulfill our company's Mission."

While Medtronic Canada is in the healthcare technology business, the vision to improve lives by putting people first is a strong motivator for attracting talent. Medtronic is the largest healthcare technology employer in Canada, and Medtronic technologies are used to address nearly 70 medical conditions.
